PASTOR'S MEDITATION: The 3rd Sunday of Advent year A: JOHN IS THE MESSENGER AND JESUS IS THE MESSIAH WE ARE TO COMPLETE THEIR WORK.

We are now just a few days away from Christmas, meaning our soul and physical preps almost done, if not we have arrangements for a penitential service this week. This third Sunday of Advent, Jesus is telling us that Christianity demands concrete acts of love.

At this stage John the Baptist is in prison and maybe he is having doubts about whether the One he pointed out, Jesus, was the long awaited Messiah. So he sends some of his disciples to ask Jesus if he is the One to come or do they have to wait for another. Interestingly, Jesus didn't give a direct 'yes', he simply instructed them: "Go back and report to John, what you hear and see; the blind see again, the lame walk, lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised to life and the Good News is proclaimed to the poor" (Matthew 11:4-5)

These are the concrete tangible signs whereby people would be able to recognize the true Messiah. It is the fulfillment of the messianic prophecy of Isaiah expressed in today's first reading (Is. 35.6). Jesus' mission was not to establish a powerful new empire and bring down God's wrath and anger on the Roman army of occupation, Jesus was neither a political Messiah nor an economic Savior.

When John the Baptist had asked the question: are you the one who is to come? It can be asked in many different ways in our world today. It can mean: 'Are You the One, Lord who can give meaning to our life's, fill the emptiness within us and heal our wounds. Or shall we look for meaning elsewhere in material possessions, in self-indulgent or even self-destructive pursuits?

Helplessness, confusion and woundedness may tempt us to grasp at whatever could give us instant relief. But it is the Lord's promise of his coming that sustains us even in the face of lives many trials and sufferings. Advent is about waiting expectantly for the Lord's coming even when we are aware of our poverty, emptiness and hopelessness. He loves us as we are and not what we would like to be. We live in a world where we can get answers to many things quickly: an instant message by cellphone or mobile phone; a quick answer by checking the computer, instant/fast food etc. The danger is that oftentimes we expect God to respond at once especially in sickness and trials.

The things Jesus did in Galilee he still does. If we are blind to the truth about God, others, and ourselves he opens our eyes if we ask him. If we are lame in the sense that we find it hard to stay on the right path, he will strengthen us. If we suffer from the leprosy of sin he will cleanse us if we pray for this. Those of us who are dead to the voice of God and conscience will be able to listen. If we feel dead and powerless to love God he will give us new life if we honestly want it and ask humbly for it. The Lord is always coming into our lives. Thus, Advent of the Lord, is often happening before our very eyes if we can but see it.

Advent culminates in Christmas after which our questions become a mission. Once we have experienced his presence and power in our lives, we are sent like John the Baptist as heralds of the Good News:" Go and tell others of what you see and hear" In other words, 'faith alone' is not enough: faith should bear fruit in active works of love.

Have a blessed week, Fr. Leonard Mukibi
